

A September to remember at seniors' centre

By Lloyd Bittle

What beautiful memories, our September Song gives us. Many happy, joyous summer days with friends and family and Centre happenings.

Our August monthly dinner was a Swiss Chalet chicken breast gastronomic delight and our entertainment was a joy. The Bolton United Church Players presented "Broadway and Beyond." A musical extravaganza to suit all tastes. Meg Wilkinson producer and Andrew Dunn, director and MC and a joyous cast of young people deserved the standing ovation and thank you they were given. Talent abounds in Bolton. A night to remember.

With eager anticipation we look forward to a wonderful fall and a grand summer harvest. A grand centre harvest of good times awaits.

A new centre president and executive who promise each of us a CSC@12 bigger and better with treats for all tastes. Corn on the cob, pumpkin pies, and countless tasty preserves will adorn our bountiful tables and feasts. Marg Patterson and her kitchen volunteers will make it so. Members all we are surrounded by bounty at our

New heritage designation

By ALAN LICZYK
Staff Reporter

The heritage designation bylaw for the Silver Creek Schoolhouse property at 16419 Kennedy Rd. was recently amended by Caledon council to provide for a more inclusive description of the property's heritage attributes.

The description will include the historic maple tree rows which delineate the property boundaries. The tree rows are believed to have been planted by students in celebration of Queen Victoria's Jubilee in 1897. They are considered to be of cultural heritage value and interest as a contextual landscape feature typical of rural 19th century schoolhouse properties.

Councillor Richard Paterak asked if the new designation protects the trees. Planning director Mary Hall replied the adjacent property owner can remove branches.

Heritage resource officer Sally Drummond told Councillor Nick de Boer the owner isn't expected to keep a tree alive forever.
