Safety tips now that school is out

The summer months are here and school has come to a close. The excitement level of children is high. Be on the lookout for children running, walking and cycling.

Safety Tips for Motorists

- * Obey all traffic rules, especially speed limits and stop signs in places where children might be, such as neighbourhood parks, schools and playgrounds.
- * Remember children are small and generally hard to see.
- * Watch for additional bicycles on the roadways.
- * Leave a safety zone when passing cyclists.
- * Look in your side mirror and blind spot before open a car door when parked on the street.
- * When making a right turn, check the curb to ensure you do not cut off a cyclist.

Safety Tips for Children

- * Be extra careful when crossing the street.
- * Always cross at an intersection.
- * Always wear your bike helmet when you ride.
- * Never go anywhere with a stranger. If a stranger talks to you, move away fast.
- * Always let whoever is looking out for you, know where you are going and whom you will be with - even if it is just next door.

Safety Hints for Parents

- * At any age, know where your children are, whom they are with and what they are doing.
- * Discuss house rules and your expectations with them before trouble arises.
- * Discuss the safety tips for children (above) with your kids today.
