

Volunteer at Hospice Caledon

If you are a compassionate, emotionally centered individual who enjoys other people, you may be interested in becoming a visiting volunteer for families who are dealing with life limiting illnesses or are grieving a loss.

Hospice Caledon is offering their 30-hour "in-home visiting volunteer" training program for individuals who would like to support families during times of grief and/or bereavement. This program introduces participants to many end-of-life issues like palliative care, communication with the dying and bereaved and their families, spirituality, grief and bereavement, medical considerations for specific illnesses, pain management, ethics and family dynamics.

The training will be offered at Hospice Caledon in the Caledon Community Services office and will run 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays, Sept. 29 and 30 and Oct. 13 and 14. Space is limited to 12 participants. They welcome all volunteer candidates but are especially in need of volunteers who speak Italian as well as males and residents of the west side of Caledon. This course is offered free of charge with a $25 materials fee.

If you are interested or want more information, please call Anne at Hospice Caledon at 905-951-3534.

Fill permit is approved

A fill permit was recently granted by Caledon council to John and Paulette Mowles at 14 Elite Rd. in the Tamarack subdivision so they could dig a pond.

Because the property isn't an agriculturally zoned property or used for agricultural purposes, the applicants needed council to amend the fill bylaw in order that a permit may be issued.

PROCTORS MARK THEIR 80TH

The Proctor twins, Gerald Samuel and Douglas William, celebrated their 80th birthday July 17 with their families. The twins were born July 17, 1927, to William Samuel Proctor and Annie (Faulkner) Proctor, and delivered by Dr. Gerald and Dr. Douglas at the Toronto General Hospital. The boys weighed in at over 8 pounds each and the two doctors who delivered them asked their mother to name the babies in their honour which she did. Both Doug and Gerald have lived all 80 years in the village of Caledon East and each of them served on council for the village. Doug was a councillor on the first council in 1957 and Gerald was reeve on the last council in 1973.
