biggest concern was with people being left off the voters' lists in the previous fall's municipal elections.

Councillor Allan Thompson said the voters' lists "drove us nuts," adding "it was badly managed from day one."

Councillor Annette Groves said she wasn't on the list herself, and Councillor Gord McClure said there were deceased people in his area still on.

Provincial Finance

Minister Greg Sorbara brought down the 2007 budget in March, and Dufferin — Caledon MPP (and Progressive Conservative Leader) John Tory was expressing guarded optimism after it included provisions for widening Highway 10 in Caledon.

"It's only a mention, but I think we're making progress," he said, adding he had had numerous conversations with Transportation Minister Donna Cansfield about the urgency of the project. "If the mention in the budget is any indication, she may be better at keeping her word than her boss Dalton McGuinty."

Federal Finance Minister Jim Flaherty also brought down a budget in March, and he earned lots of praise from local MP David Tilson.

hospice residence in Inglewood.

Councillor Richard Paterak cited the contribution of Lorna Bethell for her work on the project and her donation of $2 million to bring it along.

"I hope this will be for all of us in Caledon," she told council "I hope this will be a sad but happy home."

"All of this is coming together very nicely," Mayor Marolyn Morrison commented.

*****

The Bolton branch of the Royal Canadian Legion presented a donation of $6,000 to Headwaters Health Care Centre.

The money was slated to go toward the purchase of a pain pump, which provides intravenous pain control for patients.

*****

Dufferin — Caledon

Victoria Nigro and Sierra Amico had their long hair cut in March so it could be donated to Angel Hair for Kids.

*****

The Caledon community mourned the passing of former councillor and prominent Palgrave Rotarian John Davidson.

"He came into our lives quietly with determination, poise and confidence," Councillor Richard Whitehead wrote in a tribute. "He left us with dignity, courage and grace."

*****

Councillor Doug Beffort successfully put forth a motion to have O Canada sung at the beginning of council meetings.

Two Bolton Scouts, Stuart Matson and Thomas Hautot received their Chief Scout Awards, the top award in Scouting.

Liberals named well-known Bolton environmentalist Skid Crease as their candidate in the next federal election.

"I want to go to Ottawa to ensure that Canada's national and international responses to climate change honour the work of the scientific community and our commitments to the Kyoto process to provide responsible policies that will work toward a healthy environment and sustainable development," he stated. "I want to rekindle a vision of a united Canada, celebrating diversity and sharing our resources with empathy and integrity."
